Tax Cut Now Is Said Not Warranted

Anderson Relates Economic Beliefs To Congress Group

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said today the current economic situation "does not warrant" a tax cut.

Anderson told the Senate-House Economic Committee that tax changes should be used to stimulate the economy only when "conditions are sufficiently adverse to warrant it," and, he said: "It is our judgment that the present condition of the economy does not warrant such action now."

Although he said he would not be surprised by more "bad news" from the economic front before things get better, Anderson said he was not even prepared to discuss the possibility of enacting a standby tax cut bill, to be used if the recession goes beyond a certain specified point.

Anderson did not use the word "recession" in his prepared statement. He said he looks for a "readjustment" soon and is optimistic for the years ahead as well as for this year.

Approve Payments

"Neither inflation nor deflation will be allowed to run a ruinous course," he said.

"In other developments:

1. Both the Senate and House Appropriations committees approved an administration request for an additional $43,400,000 for unemployment payments to jobless war veterans and former federal employees out of work. The Senate committee's action represented an unusual speedup, taken after a Labor Department official said the money is "needed immediately."

2. The House Ways and Means Committee wound up five weeks of hearings on general tax revision amid indications it will stand firm against such changes now. It heard an appeal for income tax cuts from the Council of State Chambers of Commerce.

The council spokesman, Clarence D. Laylin of Columbus, Ohio, said tax reductions in 1954 helped reverse a recession then and "would have a similar effect on the current recession."

Calls For Reductions

Laylin called for graduated annual reductions in both individual and corporate income taxes.

Paul Ziffren, Los Angeles lawyer and Democratic national committeeman, also asked the committee for lower taxes. He said rate reductions "must be given to all brackets of taxpayers, including the low income groups, who desperately need more money after taxes to bolster our economy."

Carler W. Atkins of the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, representing 18 state taxpayer organizations, called for "an end to an income tax rate structure which destroys incentives, retards development, encourages evasion, and acts as a drag on our system of free enterprise."

Young Girl, 4, Dies Of Rabies

IRONTON, OHIO, Feb. 7 (AP)—A young girl, bitten by a stray dog just before Christmas, died of rabies in Ironton General Hospital Saturday, health officials reported today.

Immediate steps were taken to start anti-rabies shots for her mother, grandmother, and a nurse at the hospital. All three were bitten by the girl before she died.

The victim, 4-year-old Pamela Dillon, of nearby Coal Grove, was bitten by one of several stray dogs in Coal Grove Dec. 24. Her family said, however, that she showed no definite signs of illness until Saturday morning when she was taken to the hospital. She died Saturday afternoon.

State health officials in Columbus said she was the first rabies victim in Ohio in three years.

Pamela's mother is Mrs. Mary Wheeler of Ashland, Ky. The girl had been living with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dillon.

Getting The Word

A remark by President Eisenhower brings smiles to the faces of a group of Eagle Scouts as he leads through the annual national report on the activities of the Boy Scouts of America at the White House. Gareth Eaton, right, of Lockport, N. Y., presented the report. Left to right are Kenneth A. Larimore, foreground, Granada, Minn.; Robert A. Vetter, rear, Silverton, Ore.; Eisenhower; James C. Eagle Scouts Visit Ike With Annual Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a jovial mood but still fighting a cold, visited today with 12 Boy Scouts representing all sections of the nation.

The scouts, all of eagle rank, gave the President a copy of their annual report to the country and a plaque commemorating the start of the Boy Scout safety-good turn campaign.

The President also received a big bouquet of roses for Mrs. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower took special interest in one of the scouts, 16-year-old Mac Hanna of Aiken, S. C. Young Hanna met the President at the airport at Augusta, Ga., a week ago today when Eisenhower arrived for a weekend of golf which was spoiled somewhat by cold weather and high winds.

Eisenhower returned from Augusta last Sunday night with the cold and sore throat which has been bothering him ever since.

"Is it any warmer down there?" Eisenhower asked Hanna, whose home is just across the Savannah River from Augusta. "I hope to be back down there again soon," Hanna told the President the weather has warmed up. Eisenhower plans to travel next week to Thomasville, Ga., for several days of quail hunting and some golf.

The President's voice remained quite husky today, and White House press secretary James C. Hagerty reported Eisenhower's throat still was sore.

The President's cold, Hagerty said, is about the same as it was earlier in the week.

In receiving the safety-good plaque, Eisenhower commended the idea and remarked with a smile: "Well, my goodness, I hope you work at it every day."

VALPARAISO, Chile, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Italian liner Usodimare arrived with 180 stowaways among her 811 passengers. All the extras boarded the ship in the Chilean ports of Arica and Antofagasta, and among them were 30 burlesque dancers.

Garden Of Hope Is Being Built By Kentucky Pastor

COVINGTON, Ky., Feb. 7 (AP)—A Garden of Hope is being built here as a symbol of the brotherhood of mankind.

The garden, which will include a replica of Christ's tomb, was the idea of the Rev. Morris Coers, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church here.

The minister said today that 22 nations have contributed items for the garden, the latest gift coming from Egypt. It was an Egyptian flag and seeds for Egyptian flowers and plants.

Accompanying the gift was a letter from President Gamal Nasser.

"You are setting an unequalled example of bringing together different nations in the pursuit of

Congress Is Urged To Break Up Power Of Auto Industry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—when it approaches a dominant place in a basic industry, the American Motors President George Romney urged Congress today to split up the power of the corporate and labor giants in the automobile industry. He also contended the people are demanding smaller cars.

Romney, whose company produces the Rambler, recommended legislation requiring General Motors and Ford to break up into smaller companies. He also urged that the United Auto Workers Union be compelled to divide its bargaining forces.

Such concentration of economic power should be limited, Romney told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee investigating pricing policies in the auto industry.

"When you get so darned big, you get muscle-bound," he said at another point.

Romney predicted this spring's auto wage bargaining may send another black-buster chain reaction wage-price spiral across the nation unless his proposals are adopted. He said he regarded the breakdown in both management and labor power as equally important.

"What's good for the goose is good for the gander," he said.

Commenting on the testimony at Miami Beach, Fla., a UAW spokesman said Romney has an exaggerated and erroneous estimate of the union's power in the industry. He added that Romney's troubles stem from his competitors.

The spokesman said the union's collective bargaining proposals, which include a demand that the industry share its profits with the workers, are noninflationary and would help rather than hurt the smaller producers such as American Motors.

Romney's company is one of the two relatively small independents still turning out cars.

To curb what he called union monopolies, Romney suggested that power to bargain with big firms in any basic industry be lodged with unions exclusively representing the employees of a single employer.

He also proposed that a company be compelled to split itself peaceful living and cooperation for the benefit of their respective peoples," the letter said.

"Your project is closely linked with my attitude and policy as a partisan for peace, believing that spiritual armament is the best and surest way to maintain it."

The replica of Christ's tomb has been completed. The three-acre garden also will include a carpenter's workshop—as near like those of the time of Christ as possible; a Chapel of Dreams; a Spanish mission; and a Wall of Memory which will contain a 500-pound stone from the Wailing Wall of Jerusalem.

The Rev. Mr. Coers, building the garden with private donations, hopes to have it ready for dedication by Easter.

Soviet-U.S. State Heads Pledge Peace

Dulles Meets New USSR Ambassador; Cabinet Is Briefed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—U.S. Soviet relations today took a new and possibly significant twist involving the travels of two ambassadors and a once-obscure Polish plan for barring atomic arms in Eastern Europe.

It was a day that saw: 1. U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson brief President Eisenhower's Cabinet on prospects for an East-West summit conference this year, then head back by air to his post in Moscow.

2. New Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, moving almost as fast as the 500 m.p.h. Soviet jet airliner which brought him from Moscow yesterday, swap pleasantries at the State Department with Secretary Dulles.

Didn't Settle Question

"No, we didn't settle the disarmament question," Dulles chuckled to newsmen. "Not yet, anyhow," said Menshikov. Their meeting apparently was taken up with diplomatic niceties pledging both sides to work for peace.

3. The State Department speaking kindly of Communist Poland's peaceful intent, but pull back publicly from a secret critique cabled its European missions calling the Polish proposal "extremely dangerous."

Thompson plans to fly Monday to West Germany. Next Tuesday he will arrive back in Moscow.

Thompson's Russian counterpart, a blue-eyed blond with a ready smile, lost no time in taking charge of the Soviet Embassy here. With unprecedented speed, he called on Dulles and arranged for a formal presentation of credentials next week to Eisenhower.

The Polish plan for an atomic-free zone was the main topic at the daily news conference of State Department press chief Lincoln White.

Made By Rapacki

This proposal was first made by Poland's Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki to the U.N. last October. Under it, Poland and Czechoslovakia would join East and West Germany in agreeing to prohibit the making and stockpiling of atomic weapons.

It was endorsed by Russia, although with no evidence of great enthusiasm. Its greatest Soviet boost came in a Jan. 8 letter from Premier Nikolai Bulganin to Eisenhower. The immediate American reaction was negative.

Civil Rights Fund Deferred

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Civil rights popped up today as an unscheduled 1958 congressional issue when the House Appropriations Committee declined to finance the investigatory commission created by the 1957 civil rights law.

The committee deferred action on a White House request to include in the 1959 general government matters appropriation bill an allotment of $750,000 to finance the six-man Civil Rights Commission. It said the request for funds was prepared by persons not associated with the commission and pointed out that the commission has not yet employed a staff director.

The 1957 civil rights law provides that the staff director must be confirmed by the Senate before taking office. He has not yet been appointed.

In spurning the fund request, the committee indicated that it would look unfavorably on another presidential plea for a stop-gap $200,000 allotment for the commission for the next four months unless the commission is more firmly organized.

The $750,000 for the commission was deleted from a bill financing the executive office of the President and related agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. As sent the House, the bill would appropriate $14,808,870 for these agencies, a reduction of $256,000 exclusive of the Civil Rights Commission fund.

Inmate Won't Be Able To Escape Yet

TAKAMATSU, Japan, Feb. 7 (AP)—A 26-year-old prison inmate figured he'd have a better chance to escape if he got committed to the hospital. He got there, all right, but X-rays show he won't be going anywhere for a while. He'll be trying to recover from swallowing five seven-inch pieces of steel wire from his cell window.

Unions Ordered To Clean House

AFL-CIO Directs Compliance With Ethical Practice Code By April 15

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—The AFL-CIO today ordered quick union compliance with anti-corruption curbs to avoid possibly stricter control being legislated by Congress.

President George Meany and the AFL-CIO Executive Council directed the federation's 137 unions to comply fully with the AFL-CIO ethical practices codes by April 15.

It was frankly conceded some unions have been lagging in adopting labor's own set of anticorruption rules. Failure of unions to meet the two-month deadline, Meany said, will result in their being investigated by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee.

The codes, adopted in 1957, spell out required union fund safeguards and democratic procedures to insure rights of union members to a voice in their labor organization's affairs.

Policy Statements

The crackdown on union compliance with the codes was accompanied by policy statements adopted by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee and Executive Council saying in effect that organized labor is perfectly capable of cleaning its own house without new legislation.

The Ethical Practices group conceded that failure on labor's part to meet its cleanup responsibilities "can only result in governmental assumption of what are properly trade union functions."

The codes bar crooks and racketeers from holding union office, require honest and regular union elections and the right of members to participate in all union decisions, prohibit conflict of interest among union officials and specify stringent financial control.

Held To Deadline

Meany said unions will be held to the April 15 deadline except for good faith reasons for delay.

The council's policy statement on corruption curbs said the AFL-CIO favors only proposals in Congress to open to the public union financial data presently filed confidentially with the Labor Department and similar disclosures of welfare fund financial reports.

But the AFL-CIO leaders pledged an all-out right against any proposals now pending in Congress which, it was said, would "in the name of protecting workers from improper activities, undermine self-government within the labor movement or weaken unions."

It was clear the federation opposes even the relatively mild union controls proposed by President Eisenhower's administration, but these are to be taken up specifically by the AFL-CIO leaders here next week.

Scientist Who Wrote Paper Now Cannot See It

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 7 (AP)—How a distinguished scientist found himself blinded by red tape has been disclosed by his wife in an address to an organization of women associated with Harvard University, the Harvard Dames.

Mrs. Fred L. Whipple, wife of the director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, related that in 1946, her husband—a noted Harvard University astronomer—wrote a paper for an unidentified nonprofit research organization in California.

Some time after he had turned in the paper, he found that he needed some of the data contained in the article. Mrs. Whipple said the organization replied:

"This has been classified top secret. Since you do not have the proper security rating, we cannot permit you to see it."

Trooper, Civilian Charged In Roadblock Shooting

PADUCAH, Ky., Feb. 7 (AP)—A age suit in McCracken Circuit Court. Defendants are Hopkins, McAlister and Charles King, also of Fulton, a companion of McAlister at the roadblock.

The suit charged the young woman died as a result of careless, illegal, unlawful and negligent action by "all and each of the defendants."

Miss English was shot to death early Monday morning when the car in which she was riding drove through a roadblock set up to nab Carl E. Burton, 24, Redwood City, Calif., wanted for kidnapping Missouri state trooper William Little last Saturday. Burton surrendered to police Tuesday night after a four-day manhunt. His partner, Harold Davis, 33, also of Redwood City, shot and wounded himself.

Both men are in custody on charges of kidnapping and interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

Atlas Makes Good Takeoff In Florida

Air Force Officers Say Huge Missile Destroyed Itself

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—An Air Force Atlas made a beautiful take-off in a test firing today, flew normally until its engines cut off — and then about a minute later it blew up while in a ballistic coasting flight.

The Air Force emphasized in an announcement later that the huge intercontinental ballistic missile was not purposely destroyed, but destroyed itself.

Air Force officers said it was unknown how the self-destruction came about.

Normally, after a rocket's engines have stopped, there is little danger of an explosion.

However, on comparatively short test flights of a missile designed for great range, there usually is a supply of fuel still aboard after the valves are closed. It may have been that this fuel in some way ignited itself.

Leaves His Console

So impressively smooth was the missile launching and powered flight phase that the Air Force range safety officer — the man whose duty it is to order any missile that gets out of control to destroy itself — had left his operating console.

It was explained that, with the huge missile virtually empty of fuel, the safety officer had assumed it was on its coasting flight, like a bullet, to its target.

He knew it was on its course and therefore considered the missile no longer an operating problem.

The Atlas is a 5,000-mile-range weapon designed to fly 10,000 miles an hour with a nuclear warhead.

Reporters and photographers were admitted to the missile test center to witness the firing from the closest available viewpoint, a rooftop 2.6 miles away. This was the same vantage point from which they were permitted to watch and photograph the Jan. 31 launching of the Explorer satellite and the Feb. 5 launching and subsequent breakup of the Vanguard satellite vehicle.

Atlas Is Launched

Other reporters watched from the old standby viewpoints on the beaches four to five miles south of the test center. It was from observers at these points that first reports of the missile's destruction came.

After a long series of delays, normal in testing programs, the Atlas was launched at 2:36.5 p.m. It had been expected to go shortly after 10 a.m., and thus was about 4½ hours behind schedule.

The Atlas is an imposing missile, the largest of all the ballistic weapons.

It weighs nine times as much as the Vanguard rocket and three times as much as the Jupiter-C. The full weight for a 5,000-mile flight is estimated at around 100 tons.

However, for test flights such as that today, believed to have been scheduled for less than 1,000

AF Considers New Bomber

SEATTLE, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Air Force was reported to be considering development of a ram-jet powered manned bomber which could fly at 2,700 to 4,000 miles an hour.

Lt. Gen. C. S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief for materiel, referred to this possible weapon in an interview with the Seattle Times.

He also said half a dozen companies now are studying manned glide rockets, another proposed strategic weapon of even greater speed.

Both would be steps beyond the WS10A, a chemically fueled intercontinental bomber for which North American Aviation Co. of Los Angeles won a development contract in competition with Seattle's Boeing Airplane Co.

A ram-jet bomber would utilize a power plant that is most efficient at high altitudes. It is the type used in the Boeing-built Bomarc guided missile.

Speaking of the manned glide rocket, a project previously mentioned by the Air Force, Irvine said, "This would be a two- or three-stage machine."

Polish Atomic Weapons Ban Not Acceptable

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The State Department said today a Polish plan for banning atomic weapons in central Europe has serious disadvantages as presented.

But a spokesman was careful not to reject the plan outright, apparently seeking to keep it alive as a possible springboard for new U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks.

Department press chief Lincoln White was asked at his news conference about a report published in the New York Times that the Polish proposal had been written off as extremely dangerous. The dispatch from Washington said U.S. embassies in Europe had been advised of the administration's chief objections to the proposal.

White refused to say whether the State Department considered extremely dangerous the plan, first advanced by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki and endorsed by the Soviet Union.

White referred newsmen to President Eisenhower's comments on the plan in his Jan. 12 letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

"I don't want to make any comment in detail," White then said. "In general, however, we do in fact see serious disadvantages in the plan as presented."

"At the same time, we of course recognize that the Poles have a strong interest in relaxing tension and that they look upon the Rapacki plan as being a contribution toward bringing this about."

White quoted a part of the Eisenhower letter in which the President told Bulganin the proposal would tend to perpetuate the partition of Germany.

"It is unrealistic to ignore the basic link between political solutions and security arrangements," the letter added.

Paramount Sells Movies To TV

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Paramount Pictures today announced the sale of all its pre-1948 movies for $5 million dollars for use on television.

Barney Balaban, Paramount president, said the purchaser of the approximately 750 films is Management Corp. of America, headed by Jules C. Stein, who also heads Music Corp. of America.

The films include "Going my Way," with Bing Crosby; "The Lost Weekend," "To Each His Own," various Cecil B. DeMille spectacles; and other noted pictures.

A Paramount spokesman said the films would be available for showing on TV any time after the final sale papers are signed, probably next week.

"Some time ago, Paramount decided to dispose of its entire pre-1948 library. Some steps toward that end have already been taken and the final step is about to be consummated," Balaban said.

"Paramount will receive for its pre-1948 library 35 million dollars. Approximately 30 per cent will be paid in cash; the balance to be guaranteed by the purchaser. After 35 million dollars is received by Paramount, another 15 million is to be paid to Paramount out of a minimum of 60 per cent of the gross receipts received by the purchaser."

North Koreans Propose Armed Forces Cutback

HONG KONG, Feb. 7 (AP)—North Korea proposed today that armed forces in North and South Korea be cut to 100,000 men each, or less, Peiping radio said today.

North Korean Ambassador Li Young was quoted as telling a news conference in Peiping that this was an elaboration of Premier Kim Il Sung's proposal Wednesday.

Sung said the armies of North and South Korea should be reduced to a minimum, all foreign troops—U.S. and Red Chinese—withdrawn from the two halves of the country, and neutrally supervised elections held to unite the country to forestall a "grave danger" to peace.

Reliable sources in the South Korean National Assembly reported last December that South Korea would cut its 720,000-man armed forces by five per cent, or about 36,000 men, in 1953. A cut has been recommended by the United States as an economy measure. The United States has two divisions in Korea.

South Korean defense officials have estimated North Korea's forces in 1956 at 400,000 Koreans and 300,000 Chinese.

The United States last year informed North Korea that due to North Korea's military buildup over a long period it was scrapping an armistice provision against introduction of new weapons into South Korea.

Atomic weapons, including Honest John rockets and 280 mm. cannon which can fire atomic warheads, have since been sent.

The North Korean ambassador was quoted by Peiping radio today as saying the United States and South Korea were "hatching a new war."

Lawyer Sentenced For Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7 (AP)—Edwin Cicero Brown Jr., 49-year-old Washington lawyer, was sentenced to a year in prison and fined $2,000 for federal income tax evasion today.

Brown, a Negro with his law practice in Alexandria, entered a guilty plea to evading $2,388 in income taxes on his 1951 and 1952 returns.

Judge R. Dorsey Watkins dismissed two additional counts of the indictment on the recommendation of government attorneys.

Brown originally was indicted last February on a charge of evading $8,557 for the four-year period of 1950-1953.

Boy, 17, Given Prison Sentence

SALISBURY, Feb. 7 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy was sent to prison today for killing another youth during an argument over whether he had killed the second youth a foul name.

Robert Douglas Bruce, a high school student in Salisbury, was sentenced to not more than six years in the reformatory. The maximum sentence for manslaughter is 10 years.

Young Bruce was convicted in the pistol slaying Dec. 1 of Nolan Willey, 17, of Bethel, Del. Judge Rex A. Taylor told Bruce that those around his age seem to believe that "because of your youth you can do many wrong things that perhaps will be overlooked."

The LIMITED...

There's a tingle of excitement in that word limited as long as we're describing a train.

But if we were speaking of the boy—describing the effect which spiritual neglect has on the development of the character of a child—that's a different matter! There's nothing thrilling about a soul that has been limited in its opportunity for religious expression and growth!

The churches of our community are here to give ALL our children religious training...to help ALL our families foster a spiritual atmosphere in their homes.

As we make use weekly of the opportunities our churches provide, the potential Christian growth of the child, the family and the Nation becomes UNLIMITED.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All Drivers Are Morally Responsible

There is no more life left in a victim who dies beneath the wheels of an automobile than there is in the victim of such mad killers as the one who recently took a toll of 11 lives in Nebraska and Wyoming. And the loss to a victim's loved ones is hardly any less because he was killed by an auto instead of by a bullet or a knife.

But consider how differently the public reacts when death comes in these two guises. This attitude is the "double standard" that New Jersey's Motor Vehicle Commissioner, Frederick Gassert Jr., decried recently. People generally agree, he said, that it is a serious sin to kill, assault, or commit arson—unless it is done by automobile.

Gassert observed that grand juries are slow to indict the man who kills another by auto. And if such a driver should be indicted, a jury sitting in the case would be unlikely to convict. This is not the case when death comes by other violence—but the victim of the automobile is no less dead.

The hope must be that the driving public will discard the double standard. Until each and every one determines to obey the rules of the road, policing can do no more than keep the traffic toll down.

Gassert's approach reflects the slogan the National Safety Council currently is trying to impress upon the driving public: "You are morally responsible for safe driving." This is being pressed upon motorists throughout the country from billboards and other vantage points.

It is a call to each individual to examine his driving habits and his responsibilities.

The Missile Program

The fact that we finally launched the Army Jupiter-C does not mean that we can afford to ignore the necessity for the reorganization of the armed services and the production of military hardware to meet the necessities of the era in which we actually live. That reorganization must continue if we are to out-balance the Russians in this particular area of our conflict with them.

In his testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, Donald Douglas, Sr., made the point that in one service, it was estimated that it took 333 days "to process a facility request," which is a mighty long time for any decision. In that period, a modern war can start, can inflict its damage, and can be over.

So Edwin Weisl, the committee counsel, wanted to know why it took so long and Douglas, Sr., replied that there are too many people concerned in making a decision. His son, Donald Douglas, Jr., then stepped in to tell his story. He said:

"Part of the problem on the facility question is that in this fast-moving missile age, when you have to get concrete emplacements and things like this and go through public works that this is another line of action, and we actually built the Thor faster than the concrete was poured at Cape Canaveral to receive it."

In a word, there is a fast-moving weapon but a slow-moving administrative system. And the entire system of supplies, of logistics, requires modernization. Donald Douglas, Jr., testified to certain advantages the Russians had and also of certain facilities that we lacked. For instance:

"... The TU-114 (Russian) is a very, very large airplane which has about twice the ton-knot productivity of the C-133 (American), and this means that it can do a lot more work at more efficient costs.

"In other words, the ton-mile costs of operation should be very low, and it seems to me quite a shame when the United States leads the world in air transportation that we should lose this leadership to the Russians."

The contracting companies, those manufacturing organizations which are able to manufacture the new weapons, face enormous financial problems. Naturally, this is a totally new product and experience in costs is limited. It is a product which has only one customer, the government which can be arbitrary as to both the price and the method of financing. The industries that are invited to do the work are principally engaged in manufacturing airplanes or scientific equipment. The government determines the price, but it leaves too little money over costs for research by the companies. Donald Douglas, Sr.'s comments on this are most interesting:

"We got together with the Bell Laboratory people about a year before the Thor contract was placed, and we each spent considerable sums of money. I think something well over a million dollars on our own, and entirely speculatively, on what became the Thor ...

"We are perfectly prepared to do it if we have the money. But now because of some of the things that have happened, because of some of the findings of a renegotiation board in the last year, our company, and I am quite sure some of the other companies, are finding that they do not have as much surplus to do that sort of thing with."

What actually happens is that these private companies are asked to finance the government to a certain extent. This is a loss to the taxpayer because private companies pay more to borrow money than the government has to pay. Ultimately this comes on the taxpayer's bill, no matter how it is arranged. The companies are generally not permitted to charge the interest to the government, but they must calculate it in the price or they would go bankrupt.

Furthermore, they have to figure that when it is all over, there will be a renegotiation in which arbitrary decisions will be made. Every government contractor must anticipate a renegotiation and works his prices accordingly. Renegotiations are costly in time and money, because no businessman can foresee what arbitrary decision the government might make. All these queer business methods of the government, usually designed for political reasons, are expensive and the taxpayer pays.

Achievement Promise Needed For Summit Talk

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There will be a "summit" conference if President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles can possibly bring it about—but there will have to be in advance some promise of achievement.

If the Soviets think that there is any real reluctance here about meeting them in a top-level conference such as was held in Geneva in 1955, they are very much mistaken.

The President is not afraid of the propaganda battle. In some respects, he welcomes it. But he sees no point in going to a meeting which will merely make pious professions of peaceful purpose without doing a single thing actually to advance the cause of peace in the world.

It is beside the point to argue that the United States is insisting on a whole "package" of conditions and will not agree to one thing without the other. Rather it is the substance of every proposal that has to be examined carefully, and there are lots of things that can be agreed to separately without waiting for any other issues to be resolved. The important point is that the United States does not want to bar any single issue from discussion, such as, for instance, German reunification, though it is realized there may be little chance of agreement with the Soviets on that subject.

But merely to agree, for example, to ban nuclear tests, as is being argued by political opposition party spokesmen here and in Britain, would be purposeless unless accompanied by an agreement to bar the further manufacture of all nuclear weapons, too.

The United States and her allies also want to see armament expenses reduced but are not willing to give the Soviets military control over Western Europe through acceptance of the tricky proposals for "disengagement" or withdrawal of American forces and bases—a scheme which has been championed recently by glibble and naive persons in public life on the Western side.

The substantial issue of how the Communist regime is to be prevented from exercising military domination in Europe is one that may be discussed at a "summit" conference, but it is not likely to get anywhere. There are lesser issues on which an agreement might really be reached, such as the machinery for the control of outer space, the elimination of travel restriction inside the countries of the east and west, and perhaps the setting up of a commission of major powers to study disarmament proposals.

If agreement is reached on only one thing, the Administration here would consider it worth while to participate in a "summit" meeting. If, however, it is apparent from the beginning that the Soviets do not intend to agree to anything, then the probabilities are that no conference will be held.

The Soviets, on the other hand, cannot afford to accept responsibility before the world for refusal to give a single inch in advance of the "summit" conference. Instead, they may find themselves compelled to intimate through diplomatic channels their willingness to agree on certain points.

The objection raised by Chairman Bulganin in his latest letter to participation in a foreign ministers conference in advance of the "summit" meeting is regarded here as a bit of perverse humor. For the Soviet government knows that no "summit" conference would be held without

Bizri's September Prediction Comes True As Syria Unites With Egypt

By Drew Pearson

that direction. Israel will be next.

Jordan is a vast expanse of desert containing a few historical cities such as old Jerusalem, Bethlehem, where Christ was born, and Jericho whose walls have never been rebuilt; but also containing a population of almost 1,000,000 Palestinians, who don't like little King Hussein, plus about a half a million Bedouins who do.

If Egypt and Syria swallow Jordan, as they are almost certain to do within the next nine months, then the new Arab combine will almost be united—though not quite. Only the Gulf of Aquaba, the Israeli city of Elath, and the Negev desert of Israel will separate them. Distance is so short in the Holy Land and the two united Arab countries will be so close together that Israel cannot possibly let them get that close—especially with Russian arms of the most modern type pouring into both Egypt and Syria. So, if Jordan is threatened Israel would be almost certain to act.

The Near East, therefore, long the most dangerous spot in the world, becomes even more dangerous with the new unity between Egypt and Syria. Nixon's Ambitious Proposal

Richard Nixon, who has toured most of the world since becoming Vice President, has now offered to go to Moscow. His plan is outlined at the White House and State Department would be to fly to Russia this spring and talk with Nikita Khrushchev in a general exploratory manner regarding a "summit" conference. The Nixon plan would be to test out Russian sincerity and see how far they would be willing to go.

Instead of the ambassadorial negotiations which John Foster Dulles has proposed, Nixon would conduct the exploration himself. Then if Khrushchev indicated he was really ready to smooth out the snarled kinks in American-Russian relations and end the cold war, Nixon would recommend that a summit conference be held fairly soon.

State Department advisers are a bit skeptical over Nixon's dramatic gesture. They feel that as smart as the Vice President is, he may be no match for the tough, sharp-trading Khrushchev,

They also remember that Nixon took a valiant stab at getting dictator Somosa of Nicaragua together with President Figueres of Costa Rica, but failed. They also see undercurrents of Madison Avenue politics in Nixon's ambitious proposal.

However, the Vice President seems to be dead serious and is anxious to go ahead. He was apparently impressed by the visit of Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zaroubin who went out of his way to call on Nixon at Capitol Hill before he left for Moscow.

Note—The Kremlin has made it a definite policy to warm up to Nixon. Apparently they believe that Nixon may be in the White House before 1960, and if not, then certainly thereafter.

Loose Talk

By Brother Barnabas

"Do you serve lobsters here?" "No, just customers." "Then bring me a helping of gallimaufry, s'il vous plait!" "She doesn't work here any more."

"Will you have cafe au lait, or cafe noir?" "Just cafe with creme de la creme."

The scene took place in a Parisian bistro where the made-moiselle and the American traveler affected no knowledge of words neither knew how to use.

The other day a card was passed around in a certain group for each one to sign. The sentiment printed thereon was biblical: "Be of Good Courage, for He will strengthen Thee."

I signed with the rest as a matter of conformity, not knowing whether it was to be sent to a man about to be hung, or about to be married, or to one in the hospital. In either case it would fit the occasion. Later, I learned that it was sent to a member of the group who was seriously ill. I was glad I signed.

The point of advice is, Be careful what you say, what you write, and what you sign your name to. In later years it may rise up to haunt you. Calvin Coolidge said: "I have never been hurt by anything I didn't say."

Valentine Day is upon us. There's a lot of loose talk in circulation at this time of year, some of it wholesome, some damaging.

Sometime in the Middle Ages the young folk in the hamlets of England, Scotland, and parts of France assembled and drew names by chance from an urn. The person whose name was on the slip was the holder's "valentine" or suitor for one year.

Later the upper classes took up the custom. Presents were exchanged and services performed like those of the medieval knight for his lady.

Now the thoughtful husband will take home a beauteous heart-shaped box of sweets, or some other valentine insignia for his wife.

Frilly cards with heroic sentiments will be exchanged by the younger gentry. The sentiments are so florid that they might be interpreted as a marriage proposal, and if they were taken at face value they might lead to breach of promise suits or polygamy.

The 149th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln will be observed next Wednesday. His ways with women were fabulous. Mary Todd came to Springfield sometime in the autumn of 1839, and in 1840 they were engaged. Mary was high tempered and imperious.

Beyond this Abe was inhibited by his love affair with Ann Rutledge whose death left him disconsolate. On January 1, 1841, however, when the marriage day was set, Lincoln failed to show up.

A wily Match-maker maneuvered Lincoln to the point where he was ready to propose to Mary Owens. She was beautiful, curly-haired, plump, rosy-cheeked, and he fell for her.

They corresponded, but his letters were formal and non-committal. And when he next saw her she had taken on some superfluous adiposity and become a bouncing Betty type.

Nevertheless, he was willing to live up to the tentative agreement, but when the formal proposal was made her answer was a decisive "No." In the rebound he married Mary Todd, a shrewish woman who added to the President's troubles in the White House.

Some valentines are heart-rending. They should not be permitted in the mails:

A certain girl in school received a so-called comic valentine which made her fall over on her desk and cry as though her heart would break. It read:

Judging by the way you look And all your class and culture No plain old stork delivered you! You must have come by Culture. A cruel husband sent this to his wife.

In Mother's Day girls learned to cook To keep their men folk happy. But girls today can't find the time So foods from cans feed Pappy.

A teacher in my boyhood days was named Valentine. He never married. He remained a thing of beauty and a boy forever. Because "thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead; but God himself can't kill them when they're said," it behooves us all to be careful of loose talk, says

A noted jockey came to ride at a brand new track out west, but proved a sad disappointment to his followers. In fact, after finishing out of the money in a dozen races, he was called up before the governing board. "We're wondering what you are up to," frowned the chairman. "Are you using an electric battery on any of the horses you've been riding?"

"Certainly not," maintained the jockey angrily. "I never used a battery in my life!"

"Well," said the head of the track, "I advise you to get one fast. All the other jockeys here are using them."

Valley at Beall
Mt. Savage at Fort Hill
Bruce at Allegany

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High School Sentinels took sole possession of first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League last night when they knocked off Beall High School at Frostburg by the score of 83-58 as Valley High School's Black Knights spilled Allegany High School's Campers to the tune of 63-42 at Lonaconing.

Fort Hill took a one-game lead in the championship race by registering its seventh winning in eight starts. Allegany and Fort Hill were tied for the league leadership prior to last night's games. Valley tied the Campers for the runner-up spot, each team having won six games and lost two.

Valley took a 16-13 lead in the first period but it was 30-30 when the teams left the court at intermission. With 28 seconds gone in the second period "Hank" Winner's goal put Valley ahead at 32-30 and the Knights never gave up the lead thereafter. The score was 48-44 at the close of the third period.

George Lauder paced the game's scorers with 25 points on 11 goals and 3-5 fouls. Gordon Green collected 16 points and Gerald Jewell with 11. Gary Shook was the "whole show" for Allegany with 11 baskets and 2-3 fouls for 24 points.

Valley's junior varsity beat Allegany in the preliminary contest, 36-23.

O'Neal Gets 14 Goals

Junior O'Neal, Fort Hill forward, equalled the season high for a single game when he poured 32 points through the draperies in the Sentinels' triumph in the Mountain City. O'Neal hung up a new season high when he dumped in 14 field goals, bettering the previous mark of 13 established by Gary Shook of Allegany who chalked up 32 points in the same game. Charles Robinson and Jerry Meeks racked up 16 points each for the Sentinels, who rolled up a 24-14 lead in the first quarter, led by 47-30 at the halfway mark and held the long end of a 68-41 score at the conclusion of the third stanza.

George Allen was Beall's best bet with 26 points. He hit for eleven goals from the field and added four points at the charity stripe.

Beall's Jayvees topped Fort Hill in the opener, 53-45.

Bruce Beats Indians

Bruce High School stayed in the running in the county Class B race by whipping the Mt. Savage High School Indians at Mt. Savage by the score of 63-42. The victory gave Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs a 2-1 record in "B" competition in which Valley leads 3-0. Bruce and Valley clash for title honors at Westernport February 14.

Lynn Morris, Eddie Carder and Bob Kalbaugh rang up 17, 16 and 15 points, respectively. For Bruce, Richard Lybarger and Bob Wiedner registered nine and eight markers for the Indians who absorbed their eighth straight loss in the league.

Bruce High also won the junior varsity game, 43-17.

Over One-Third W.Va. Korean Vets Get Bonus

Average Payment Has Been $255.85

CHARLESTON, Feb. 7 —The West Virginia Department of Veterans Affairs announced today that as of the end of January more than one-third of all eligible veterans had received their Korean bonuses.

The average payment has been $255.85.

By Jan. 31 the department processed a total of 24,702 claims, of which it made payments on about half, 12,392. The paid claims came to $3,161,457.

The number of claims processed equaled approximately one-third of those received — 68,560 from without the state.

Only 240 claims have been disallowed.

The department of veterans affairs reported that the pattern of claims in West Virginia was proving unlike that in other states.

The department said that elsewhere only about 10 per cent of the eligible veteran population was found to be in service or outside the state involved.

But in West Virginia roughly 40 per cent of the applicants to date are living outside the state.

The average out-of-state payment has totaled $327.54 compared with $245.08 for in-state payments. The higher figure has resulted from the large proportion of servicemen in the out-of-state category — 60 per cent.

To handle the remaining two-thirds of the bonus payments, the department of veterans affairs is operating with a full staff six days a week.

W.Va. Farm Price Average Shows Slight Advance

CHARLESTON, Feb. 7 — There was little or no change in Prices received by West Virginia farmers for their products in mid-January, as compared with those of a month earlier. January averaged slightly above December levels, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

Prices of all meat animals advanced, with calves $3.10 above mid-December at $26 per 100 pounds.

Milk cows were $10 higher at $130 per head. That was $20 above January of last year.

Commercial broiler prices, which slumped in early fall, advanced sharply from mid-December levels to average 21.5 cents per pound. Slightly larger milk supplies last month than in December caused a price drop on both wholesale milk and butterfat.

Most grain prices showed seasonal advances over December. Corn at $1.45 per bushel was up eight cents in January, but was five cents below the same 1957 month.

Wheat advanced three cents to $1.97. Oats were up two cents to 87 cents a bushel. Prices were unchanged on barley and buckwheat. Cleanup sales of tobacco caused prices much lower than the seasonal average.

Apple prices, which generally have moved higher in January, fell 20 cents below December to $1.95 a bushel and averaged 63 cents below January a year ago.

White Table Top 6 burner gas range, $75. Electrolux refrigerator, $25. Both in very good condition. Call HO 3-2381.

Widening Of Route 40 Poses Legal Questions

The widening of Route 40 by the State Roads Commission between Mt. Savage Road and Long in the Narrows end of LaVale promises to bring up interesting developments in the next few weeks.

There has been and will be considerable research into the history of the National Road, now National Highway and Route 40, to find out how much land the state actually owns through this section.

As surveyed and laid out for the widening and new drainage, the new road will come up to the front porches of homes and fronts of businesses in that section.

Residents and owners of the businesses are reported concerned, and some have hired attorneys.

Quick action is deemed necessary for the residents to change any State Roads Commission design, which now provides for a width of 54 feet.

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company of this city was the apparent low bidder on the contract to widen and surface .982 of a mile.

The SRC is expected to give the contractor the award and the proceed order this month or next.

This section of the old National Road involves a change from the original location. When surveyed in 1806 the road went out Greene Street, up Haystack Mountain, through Sandy Gap and then up through what is now LaVale.

Between 1806 and 1830 this section of the road was worn out and almost in a useless condition, and the federal government put the War Department in charge of establishing a new, less steep route.

The sharp grade of the old pike was avoided by following Wills Creek through the Narrows and then along Braddock Run, roughly through LaVale, to the Six Mile House.

It is understood the original road was four rods wide, which is 66 feet, but the exact width of the relocation, which now affects the residents of that mile of Route 40, is the point of dispute.

An interesting sidelight in the relocation is the fact that the State of Maryland had to approve it, but did so with the condition that a substantial stone bridge be built across Wills Creek at the east entrance of the Narrows.

The War Department found that the cost of the bridge greatly exceeded the money available for the road, and that a new appropriation would be necessary.

So the War Department attempted to overcome this by building a wood bridge on stone abutments. But this was brought to the attention of Gov. James Thomas and a prolonged controversy between the state and federal government started.

Finally, the War Department broke down and in 1833 and 1834 the old sturdy stone bridge was built. This lasted until around 1951 when it was torn down to make way for the upper end of Wills Creek concrete channel for the flood control project.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Car Manners

You can always spot a charming woman by the way she drives her car. Just take a ride and see for yourself. In a very short time, a woman will reveal a great deal about herself—and her character.

There's the kind of driver, for instance, who doesn't show any consideration at all for her passengers. Instead of giving them a smooth ride, she weaves in and out of traffic, bent on getting ahead of every other driver on the road. What does this indicate? It might indicate that the lady is far too aggressive in her car or in her home or anywhere else, for that matter.

If she surprises you by quarreling over some mishap or other, the logical conclusion is that she's not as gentle as she led you to believe she is. She may also lack consideration for other drivers by not obeying the rules of the road—by not giving correct signals, by cutting in suddenly or by not keeping in the proper lane. All unne-sary risks like these can be deadly.

A lack of consideration for pedestrians can also say a lot about a woman. If she doesn't stop for pedestrians, or if she splatters mud in bad weather, it's an understatement to say that she's acting very UN-ladylike.

When she pulls up in front of a friend's home, for instance, instead of honking the horn, the true charmer will call her friend beforehand to tell her what time to expect her. In that way, the friend can be ready as soon as she sees the car stop at the curb outside. And when she DOES stop, a charming driver won't block a neighbor's driveway, either.

As long as women keep misbehaving behind the wheel, how can they ever hope to dispel the commonly held notion that "all women are lousy drivers"? So don't leave your manners at home; take them along with you on your very next auto ride.

Market Suffers Sharpest Loss Since January 10th

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—The stock market took its sharpest loss since Jan. 10 today in moderate trading.

The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated $1,600,000,000, based on the decline in the Associated Press average.

Most key stocks showed losses ranging from fractions to about a point. Some declines went to about 2 points.

Brokers said that wider publication of the statement by Federal Reserve Board chairman Martin yesterday had a depressing effect. Martin saw the possibility that the recession "may be deeper and more protracted" than expected.

The market was helped late in the day by an optimistic statement from Carroll M. Shanks, president of Prudential Insurance Co. He predicted a stock market rise and a beginning of business upturn within a month.

A rise in steel scrap prices at Pittsburgh was ignored by steel shares. The firing of the Atlas missile, made by General Dynamics, trimmed that stock's early loss. North American Aviation, which makes the engine, closed unchanged and below its best for the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.30 to $162.60 with the industrials down $2.10, the rails down $1.40 and the utilities down 20 cents.

Royal Dutch was the most active stock, up 1/4 at 40 1/4 on 62,400 shares. Second was St. Louis-San Francisco Railway, off 2 1/4 at 11 on 33,600 shares. Third was Safeway Stores, up 1/2 at 27 1/4 on 28,900 shares.

Next came General Motors, off 1/4 at 34 1/4, and Bethlehem, off 1/4 at 39 1/4. Paramount Pictures rose 2 1/4 and was seventh most active, it announced it was selling its pre-1948 motion pictures for 50 million dollars.

Shipbuilding issues were depressed by reports of a fall in orders for ships. Newport News Shipbuilding fell 2 1/4, New York Shipbuilding 1/2.

Other losers included Goodyear, 2, Boeing 1 1/4, Kennecott 1 1/4, DuPont 1 1/4, American Tobacco 2, Illinois Central 1 1/4 and Gulf Oil 1 1/4.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Turnover was 610,000 shares compared with 650,000 yesterday. Losers included Creole Petroleum, Molybdenum, New Jersey Zinc and Thiokol.

Move To Revive Manufacturer's Tax Bill Begins

Senator Says Plan Is Grab For Power

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (P)—Ignoring a warning by one of its own members that its action could be interpreted as "a selfish grab for power," the Senate moved today to revive a manufacturer's tax bill.

The measure would require the Legislature's approval before a county or city in need of additional money could withdraw or reduce any exemption previously granted for manufacturing equipment, raw materials or products.

It could have a multi-million dollar impact on the economy of a heavily industrialized locality.

Sponsored by Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel), the bill was enacted last year but was vetoed by Gov. McKeldin. The veto was upheld last Wednesday when 12 senators sided with the governor and 17—one short of the required number—voted to override his veto.

Had The Votes

But Phipps and other backers of the bill got busy. They failed yesterday on their first try to reconsider, or nullify, the first vote. Since Senate rules provide that a move to reconsider may be made only once, the only way to keep the issue alive was to suspend the rules, which requires 20 votes.

Today they had the votes. Sen. Phoebeus (R-Somerset) moved to suspend the rules, got a 20-5 victory on his motion, and the bill was shelved for further action next Wednesday.

Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st), who had called the bill "nothing more than a selfish grab for power by the Senate," was among the five who continued his resistance. The others were Sens. Dempsey (D-Balto 3d), DiDomenico (D-Balto 2d), Flanagan (R-Carroll) and James (D-Harford).

Boosts Senator's Power

Bertorelli had pointed out that the measure would give a senator even more power over legislation affecting his own county than he now has. Under the tradition of "senatorial courtesy" the entire Senate goes along with the wishes of any member on a bill affecting his county alone.

Thus an industry trying to block a move by the county commissioners to raise local funds by

SA Commander Cites Program For Derelicts

Illustrations of the inspiration that the Salvation Army has provided to many derelicts were cited at Central YMCA last night by Commissioner William Davidson, Southern territorial commander of the Salvation Army, at the 72d annual meeting of the SA's Advisory Board.

Commissioner Davidson, whose headquarters are in Atlanta, Ga., particularly singled out Tom Crocker, now a Salvation Army officer in Chicago, who was named "Chicagoan of the Year" for his work among the unfortunate in the Windy City.

The speaker, who spoke with the pleasing brogue of his native Ireland, said the four basic aims of the Salvation Army are salvation of souls, social betterment of unfortunates, relief of misery and increase of human happiness.

Start In 1880

Commissioner Davidson said the Salvation Army in the United States got its start in New York City in 1880 and today there are nearly 2,000 advisory boards all over the country.

Col. V. J. Huffman of Baltimore, Salvation Army divisional commander, installed the six new members of the Advisory Board and inducted the 1958 officers.

New board members are John Ankeney, Russell G. Robeson, Rev. William R. Snyder, John G. Thomas, William Wendt and Albert D. Darby Jr.

The officers are Robert M. Hainsfurther, chairman; Robert G. Garner, vice chairman; J. Wallace Close, treasurer, and Earl M. Nonnenmann, secretary.

In brief remarks after assuming duties as chairman of the board, Mr. Hainsfurther announced the appointments to five committees for 1958. Among possible objectives in 1958 he cited are improved facilities for the South Cumberland Corps and the possibility of bringing the New York Salvation Army headquarters band to Cumberland for a concert.

The committee appointments: Building and property — Lewis J. Ort, chairman; Russell Robeson, Duard Little, Arthur Weber, Theodore Klauenburg and Charles Stutzman; budget and finance — Stutzman; Pealer, chairman; Charles Stutzman, Wallace Close and Stanley Zorick; evangelistic and youth — Rev. ## Senate Unit To Interview Appointees

Governor McKeldin's appointees to the new Workmen's Compensation Commission will be interviewed Monday by the Senate's Committee on Legislative Appointments.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher is one of the five members of the new board named to replace the present State Industrial Accident Commission.

The Senate paused yesterday in its deliberations to consider the appointments.

The Democratic majority caucused to determine whether it would give immediate approval to the nominees who include Mr. Fletcher and Meer M. Cardin, Daniel T. Doherty, Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown and Lester H. Crowther.

Majority Leader John Grason Turnbull (D-Ba.) had called for quick action on the nominations, saying a backlog of accident cases was getting bigger while the new board appointees awaited confirmation.

After the caucus, the Democrats said they had decided to have the appointees interviewed by the committee on Senatorial Nominations shortly before Monday night's session of the General Assembly.

Mr. Fletcher has been appointed to a 12-year term and at a salary of $14,000.

The commission was set up under an act of the 1957 Legislature.

TV Show, Local Charity To House Family Of 16

A fatherless family of 16, under notice to vacate their home, should be living in a new house of their own soon, thanks to a friend they never met.

Mrs. Walter Younger and her 15 children, 1014 Rolling Mill Alley, got their big break last night on the NBC television show, "Truth or Consequences."

Their benefactor was Mrs. Helen Cutter of Midland, who wrote to the show, telling of the Youngsters' plight and expressing her wish that the family might find a home.

Her letter won the program's "wish" contest and Steve Dunne, master of ceremonies, announced that the show would send a check covering the basic cost of a new home to Family Service Society, Inc., a recently organized charity in Cumberland.

Family Service, in turn, will build the Youngers a home, relying largely on donated building materials, volunteer labor and other help.

The Younger children lost their father January 16 when he was killed in a truck accident on US 40. Their home already had been condemned to make way for a new housing project and a highway.

Mrs. Cutter, who doesn't know the Youngers, said she read about the family's situation in the newspapers and wanted somebody to help them. As her own prize in the wish contest, Mrs. Cutter won a trailer.

She also has the gratitude of Mrs. Younger. "I certainly hope to go and see her and thank her for the wonderful thing she did," said Mrs. Younger.

Living with Mrs. Younger are her 15 children and a young grandson. One of the children is deaf.

Family Service Society was organized at Christmas time when several businessmen and ministers learned that a large family was living in extreme poverty in nearby West Virginia.

The society gathered clothing and furniture for the family, and acquired a temporary home in South Cumberland where the family is staying until Family Service can build a house for them.

The group decided to incorporate in December and a Maryland charter was obtained. The purpose of the organization is to attempt complete rehabilitation of destitute families, so they will cease to be permanent wards of temporary and emergency charitable assistance.

Friend Attacks Increase In Solons' Expense Funds

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (P)—Sen. Friend (R-Garrett) today took his colleagues to task for doubling their expense allowances and increasing the pay of the Senate staff while the State is facing a budget deficit.

"If we're going to resort to this kind of tactic—grabbing additional money from the State Treasury—how can we claim to be against a tax increase?" the Garrett Senator asked.

He told senators it was their duty to "act as responsible directors of a corporation" which faces money troubles.

"They would start searching for some way to economize or the stockholders would kick them out," he said. "That's what the voters should do to us."

Friend and three other senators voted against both Senate orders, similar to measures approved by the House opening day to double

House, Senate Start Whacking State Budget

Would Change Retirement System

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (P)—Chairmen of the Senate and House finance committees embarked today on their campaign to trim 7 million dollars from Gov. McKeldin's budget for next fiscal year.

As a starter, they sponsored identical bills which would require state agencies operating on special funds to put up the retirement pay of their employees.

This would cut an estimated half million dollars, maybe more, out of the record 386 million dollar bill McKeldin has presented to the General Assembly.

At present retirement monies are coming out of the general fund, supported by general taxes such as those on sales and income which McKeldin has asked to be increased by 50 per cent next year.

Increased retirement contributions amount to some 3 million dollars of the general fund budget increase.

Bills Introduced

Chairmen Turnbull (D - Balto County) and Boone (D-Balto County) introduced emergency bills to correct the matter. They would require that an agency such as the State Roads Commission, supported by gasoline and motor vehicle revenue, pay retirement costs for its employees out of these special funds and thus relieve the general fund.

Turnbull said the bill would save the state millions of dollars and correct what at present is a deviation in state fiscal policy.

"It has been the intention and policy of the state that funds other than general funds bear their proper proportion of all the operating costs of such agencies," the bill said.

The bill would require a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house and would take effect as soon as Gov. McKeldin signed it. It would apply to the current year's budget as well as that for next year. The exact saving to general fund taxpayers won't be known until details are worked out with retirement fund officials, who'll come in for a budget hearing next week.

Meanwhile, the finance committees got a preview of their budget screening problem from Budget Director James G. Rennie. He said the fiscal year 1959 spending bill "is generally somewhat tighter than the one presented to you last year."

Would Limit Tax Hikes

Legislators are extremely anxious to avoid increasing both the sales and income taxes by 50 per cent as recommended by Gov. McKeldin. The fiscal leaders figure if they can come up with 6 to 7 million dollars in budget cuts they might be able to tone down one of these tax boosts.

One possibility is that they may apply the new 3-cent sales tax rates to a full fiscal year instead of just 7 months of next year as proposed by McKeldin. This coupled with budget cuts in the amount predicted would necessitate a much smaller bite from the income or some other tax.
